Natural Maple

Natural Cherry

Natural Walnut

Natural Red Oak

Wood is a product of nature, and in some cases, will accentuate and enhance a project design when used in its purest, or natural, state. However, as a product of nature, each wood species has certain intrinsic and industry-acceptable characteristics, which can vary from tree to tree and flitch (half log) to flitch. It is precisely these naturally occurring variations that provide such richness and uniqueness to each project design. Natural veneers may contain sapwood/heartwood combinations, color streaks, spots and color variation from almost white to very dark.
